Item 5. Other Information.

NEBO Products, Inc. was notified in writing on or about December 19, 2003 (the "Notice") that it continued to be in default under a note and security agreement dated January 8, 2002 (the "Note") in favor of Connect Consulting, LLC. The obligations of NEBO under the Note were secured by a pledge of collateral comprising all accounts receivable, in transit and warehoused inventory, existing and future intellectual property, trademarks, and all intangible and fixed assets (collectively, the "Collateral"). The Notice also advised NEBO that the Note had been assigned by Connect Consulting, LLC to Alliance Sports Group, L.P. ("Alliance") and that Alliance intended to accept the Collateral in full satisfaction of the obligations of the company under the Note within 20 days of the date of the notice. NEBO believes, therefore, that Alliance intends to dispose of the Collateral as a perfected secured creditor through strict foreclosure of the lien on the Collateral on or about January 9, 2004, which date is 20 days from the date of the Notice.

As a consequence of the action by Alliance, the Note will be deemed discharged in full and the company will have no further liability under the Note. The assets of the company comprising the Collateral, which are substantially all of the assets of the company, will as a result become the sole and exclusive property of Alliance and the company will effectively cease operations.

The company has been in default under the original obligation since March 2003.

After receipt of the first notice of default from the original lender, the company made a concerted effort to cure the default and to otherwise refinance the business. The company had worked with numerous other creditors to restructure debt and convert debt to equity in an effort to avoid the financial difficulties that included the default under the Note. Scott Holmes, the remaining director and officer of the company and other employees made an effort to sell part or all of the company's operations to one or more interested parties throughout calendar 2003.

Mr. Holmes will continue with the company for an undetermined period of time to oversee winding up of the company's affairs.
