RELATED CROSS-ACTION

The Order to Show Cause Re Confirmation of Receiver hearing was initially held on June 5, 2009 and continued to July 21, 2009. After oral argument on July 21st, the court took the matter under submission. The court has reviewed and considered the arguments, papers and evidence submitted by the parties and now rules as follows:

"The receiver has, under the control of the court, power to bring and defend actions in his own name, as receiver; to take and keep possession of the property, to receive rents, collect debts, to compound for and compromise the same, to make transfers, and generally to do such acts respecting the property as the court may authorize." (Code of Civil Procedure section 568.) The court also has the power to remove or discharge a receiver at any stage of the litigation. (Hozz v. Varga (1958) 166 Cal.App.2d 539, 544.) The primary purpose of an Order to Show Cause re confirmation of receiver, appears, however, to be for the court to evaluate the necessity of a receivership, not necessarily the conduct of the court-appointed receiver.

The statutes and cases governing receiverships in the state of California do allow for the adverse party to make motions for instructions to the court and motions to vacate and also provide opportunities to challenge the receiver's final account.

Defendants did not oppose appointment of the receiver. They now contend, however, that the receiver should not be confirmed because of his purported mistakes and misconduct during the time between appointment and confirmation. Defendants' primary complaints stem from the Receiver's use of a Bank of the West account, and his failure to abide by the California and Federal Worker Adjustment and Restraining Notification Acts ("WARN Acts").

Based on the evidence before the court, it does not appear to the court that the receiver, Steve Franson, acted in bad faith in establishing the "funding mechanism" and utilizing the lockbox account at Bank of the West. Franson states he did so for the benefit of the Receivership Estate in order to fund the harvest and market of crops in which Salyer American Fresh Foods ("SAFF") had already invested. He has admitted his mistake in maintaining that account in apparent violation of CCP section 569. The money has been returned and is being held in an account at a different financial institution. Thus, the Receivership Estate does not appear to have suffered any injury as a result of this conduct. Pursuant to CCP 569(b), if any Bank of the West account for the Receivership Estate remains open, the court orders it closed forthwith.

With reference to the alleged failure to comply with the WARN Acts, it is unclear at this stage whether the receiver, under the circumstances of this case, was required to abide by those statutes. There is evidence that – prior to Franson's appointment – SAFF management was aware of the possible application of the WARN Act; had publicly announced it would be shutting down operations by the end of August; and had already begun laying off employees. (See Declaration of Eric Schwartz.) While the court's order appointing Franson states he has the power to "maintain and/or manage the Receivership Estate in the ordinary and usual course of business, and to do all things and incur the risks and obligations ordinarily incurred by owners and/or managers of property similar to the Receivership Estate," it is unclear, whether Franson actually assumed or exercised that power. Consequently, the court cannot conclude, on the evidence now before it, that the receiver acted in bad faith in not giving notices pursuant to the WARN Acts.

Based on the record before the court, it appears that there is a continued need for a receivership in this case and the evidence is insufficient to support a finding of bad faith requiring removal of Franson as receiver. Accordingly, the court confirms appointment of the receiver.
