DECLARATION OF GRACE P. NERONA

I, Grace P. Nerona, am an adult citizen of the United States and make the following Declaration based upon my personal knowledge as well as my work experience with Chevron Corporation ("Chevron") and its related companies. Chevron is the parent company of many corporate entities and I have worked on corporate matters for Chevron and its related companies for several years.

1. My current position with Chevron is as Liaison, Subsidiary Governance. I have worked for Chevron or a predecessor of Chevron since 2011. For all of that time I have worked in the Corporate Governance Department ("Governance") at Chevron. Governance provides advice and guidance over matters related to the formation, organization, dissolution, and corporate governance of Chevron's legal entities. As a Director and Assistant Secretary of Chevron Intellectual Property LLC, I am properly authorized to make this Declaration on behalf of that entity, the above-identified Registrant and owner of the above-listed trademarks.

2. From my work at Chevron, I am directly familiar with the Chevron entity named "Chevron Oronite Company LLC". I am Assistant Secretary of that entity. Based on my own knowledge, and based on Chevron's regularly kept corporate records, as well as the records of the State of Delaware, I confirm that Chevron Oronite Company LLC is now and always has been since its creation on June 12, 2000, a limited liability company and organized under the laws of the State of Delaware. In that regard, see Exhibit 1 to this Declaration which is a true and correct copy of information compiled in Governance's database for Chevron Oronite Company LLC. Also in Exhibit 1 is a true and correct copy of a printout from the records of the Secretary of State for the State of Delaware regarding Chevron Oronite Company LLC. Both documents confirm that Chevron Oronite Company LLC is a limited liability company and organized in Delaware.

3. As noted above, Chevron Oronite Company LLC was formed on June 12, 2000. (Exhibit 1.) At all times thereafter and up through to the present, Chevron Oronite Company LLC has been and is a limited liability company and organized in the State of Delaware.

4. To my knowledge, the designation "LLC" when used at the end of the name of an entity organized in the United States signifies definitively and exclusively that the entity is a limited liability company. Based on my knowledge and experience, the State of Delaware would not have accepted the formation of an entity officially named "Chevron Oronite Company LLC" in its formation documents unless that entity was in fact a limited liability company. In any case, Chevron would not use "LLC" at the end of the name of one of its entities unless the entity was in fact a limited liability company.

5. Consistent with the above and relevant to the records and issues regarding the above trademark registrations, there has never existed a Chevron company named "Chevron Oronite Company LLC" that was a Delaware corporation, or a corporation of any other state.

6. I have reviewed the relevant assignment records of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office that pertain to the above-listed trademark registrations. (See Exhibits 2 through 5.) In all the documents and cover sheets where this entity Chevron Oronite Company LLC appears, the entity is always correctly and fully identified as "Chevron Oronite Company LLC." In the cover sheet and assignment of February 21, 2006 (recorded beginning at reel 3251, frame 495) the entity is correctly described in both the cover sheet and assignment document as a limited liability company of Delaware. See Exhibit 5.

7. In the cover sheet and assignment, both dated November 29, 2000 and recorded beginning at reel 2153, frame 788, Chevron Oronite Company LLC is misidentified as a "corporation" of Delaware. See Exhibit 4. This error clearly was an unintentional, clerical error and typographical in nature. I believe it was either inadvertently done or resulted from a misunderstanding at the time of the scope in meaning of the term "corporation." In this regard, the forms of the Trademark Office at the time did not have a separate "Limited Liability Company" check-box for designating the conveying or receiving party's entity type and while "Other" was an alternative, "Corporation" likely was thought to be proper.

8. Similarly, the Chevron entity "Chevron Chemical Company LLC", which also was a limited liability company of Delaware, is misidentified as a "corporation" in three recordation cover sheets, including the above-referenced sheet at reel 2153, frame 788. See Exhibits 2, 3, and 4. In two of the cover sheets, the error is obvious as shown by the very documents the cover sheets submit for recordation which plainly and accurately identify Chevron Chemical Company

LLC as a limited liability company. See Exhibits 2 and 3. Those documents include copies of an official certificate issued by the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, and the other recorded document is an executed Certificate of Merger that is referenced in the official State of Delaware document. The third cover sheet misidentification (Exhibit 4) carries forward a misidentification in the November 29, 2000 assignment document that is submitted with it for recordation.

9. In light of the above facts, including that:

1.) Both Chevron Chemical Company LLC and Chevron Oronite Company LLC were correctly named in the November 29, 2000 assignment document by their full and accurate legal names, each of which said names at the time corresponded exactly, one each, only to a limited liability company Chevron entity;

2.) The limited liability company Chevron Chemical Company LLC then owned the listed trademarks in the November 29, 2000 assignment by virtue of documents previously recorded in the Trademark Office (Exhibits 2 and 3) to Chevron Oronite Company LLC;

3) Both those entities were at all times during their existences limited liability companies (see Exhibits 1 and 6);

4) There were no other entities at Chevron at that time with those names or similar names (a company with the similar name of "Chevron Chemical Company", a corporation, did coexist with Chevron Chemical Company LLC for about two months (November 20, 1997 through January 31, 1998), but by November 29, 2000 that corporation had been dissolved for nearly three years (see Exhibit 2 regarding the merger and also Exhibit 7 confirming dissolution on January 31, 1998 when it was fully merged into Chevron Chemical Company LLC)); and

5) My overall knowledge of the relevant circumstances;

I have corrected and initialed the two clerical errors in the November 29, 2000 assignment document to reflect that both entities identified in the document were limited liability companies and not corporations. See Exhibit 8. The existing identification of them as both being Delaware entities was and remains accurate. As stated above, I am Assistant Secretary of the assignee in that document, Chevron Oronite Company LLC.

10. All statements made herein of my own knowledge are true and all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and further, these statements are made with the knowledge that willful false statements and the like so made are punishable by fine or imprisonment or both under Section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code and that such willful false statements may jeopardize the validity of the corresponding trademark application or document or any registration resulting therefrom.
