and Judgment

JS-6

The Court has considered Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment, together with the moving papers and Defendant's failure to oppose.

When considering a motion for summary judgment on a claim that the moving party has the burden of proof at trial, as Plaintiff has here on its claim for breach of contract, the moving party has the initial burden of establishing, with admissible evidence, a prima facie case. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). Plaintiff met its burden by establishing a prima facie case for its breach of contract

1 claim. Next, the burden shifts to Defendant, as the non-moving party, to show the 2 existence of a triable issue of material fact to avoid the granting of summary judgment.
3 See Celotex, 477 U.S. at 323. Because Defendant failed to file any opposition, it failed
4 to show the existence of a triable issue of material fact.

5 When considering Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment as to Defendant's
6 counterclaims, where Defendant has the burden of proof at trial on those counterclaims,
7 summary judgment must be granted when the nonmoving party fails to produce
8 sufficient admissible evidence to establish a prima facie case for each counterclaim.
9 See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322 (1986). Plaintiff, however, has the 10 initial burden to point out that Defendant lacks evidence to establish those prima facie
11 cases. See Williams v. Gerber Prods. Co., 552 F. 3d 934, 938 (9th Cir. 2008).
12 Plaintiff met that initial burden, so the burden, now, shifts to Defendant to establish,
13 with admissible evidence, a prima facie case for each affirmative defense. See Celotex,
14 477 U.S. at 322. Likewise, because Defendant failed to oppose this motion, it failed
15 to establish prima facie cases for its affirmative defenses.

16 Plaintiff established that it is entitled to judgment in the principal amount of 17 $1,788,306.81. However, Plaintiff did not establish its entitlement to pre-judgment
18 interest, nor did it establish the basis for the amount of pre-judgment interest that it
19 sought. Plaintiff may file a motion to amend the judgment if it can substantiate its 20 request for prejudgment interest.

21 Further, Plaintiff sought an award of attorneys fees in its reply brief. A party
22 cannot seek affirmative relief in a reply brief. If Plaintiff desires an award of attorneys
23 fees, it must file a motion for attorneys fees.

24
25 Accordingly,

26
27 It is Ordered that Plaintiff's motion for summary judgment be, and hereby is,
28 Granted.

1 It is further Ordered, Adjudged and Decreed that Judgment be, and hereby 2 is, Entered in favor of Plaintiff Sound N Light Animatronics, LTD. and against 3 Defendant Cloud B, Inc., in the principal amount of $1,788,306.81.
