Pursuant to a certain Asset Sale Agreement dated November 1, 2004 (the "Agreement"), Seller transfers, assigns, sells and conveys to Buyer, for good consideration, receipt of which is acknowledged by Seller, all of the assets (the "Purchased Assets") specified in the Agreement and used in operating an engineered fluids manufacturing and distribution business located at 7300 Enterprise Drive, Spring Lake, Michigan (the "NC Business"). Capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meanings ascribed to them in the Agreement. The Purchased Assets include:

- (3) All of the Sellers' Accounts Receivable relating to the NC Business. For purposes of this Bill of Sale, the "Sellers' Accounts Receivable Relating to the NC Business" means the sum of (i) the amount of invoices sent by the Seller to its customers (collectively, "NC Customers") on and prior to the Closing for which payment has not been made to the Seller as of the Closing, as reflected on the books and records of the Seller (the "Closing Date NC Sent Receivables"), and (ii) the amount of invoices required to be sent by the Buyer (on behalf of the Seller) after Closing, pursuant to the terms of Section 4.E.(1) of the Agreement, to NC Customers for work performed, services rendered or merchandise shipped by the Seller on or prior to Closing, as reflected on the books and records of the Seller and/or the Buyer ("Post-Closing NC Invoices");
- (4) The Seller's rights in the NC Business' telephone and fax numbers, to the extent assignable;
- (5) The Seller's rights in the name "The Noble Company" and all of the Seller's rights in associated logos and trade names, yellow page advertisements, and all other intangible or intellectual assets of or related to the NC Business to the extent of the Seller's rights therein, including, but not limited to, trade secrets, processes, know-how, and the goodwill of the NC Business to the extent of the Seller's rights therein (the "Intangible Assets");
